Anti-Mormonism Said to Have Reached Flood Tide in Great Britain.

Special to The Tribune. LONDON, April 28.-Anti-Mormonism as reached the flood tide in England. agitation has gathered force steadily and tonight it culminated in a great non partisan anti-Mormon meeting in Holborn Dr. James E. C. Welldon, dean of Manchester, presided.

"We are going to put down the Mor non propaganda in England," he said. If the law is not strong enough the louse of commons will strenthen it adequately."

Herole measures to get rid of Mor non missionaries are recommended by Father Bernard Vaughan.

"Mormons," he declares, "should taken by the scruff of the neck, rushed across our island and dropped into the

It was announced during the meeting that the Mormons have $2 churches in England, with $0,000 members and 300 missionaries. It was stated also that last Year there were 963 converts, of which 500 went to Utah.

Few agitations arise in England with-out creating counter movements. In the present case the leader of the opposi-tion is William T. Stead. So far as is publicly apparent he is a leader with-out a following, although he claims that his following will be in evidence shortly. However, a lack of followers never dis-turbs Mr. Stead's opinion or actions. If he fights alone he fights with enough vigor and picturesqueness for a whole lost.

"What is all this anti-Mormonism row about?" he inquires "It is all about a lie. It is an outrage on religious liberty. The lie at the bottom of the raging hursh is to the effect that the Mormons are advertising and practicing polygamy. Not one of the anti-Mormon crusaders has ever been able to produce any evidence of it at any time or at any place within the king's dominions, nor has any Mormon apostle, elder or missionary ever appealed publicity or privately to any one of the king's subjects, male or female, to enter into polygamous relations with anybody here or in Utah or anywhere else.

"The whole yarn is as monstrous a fiction as were the lies of Titus Oates."

COPENHAGEN, April 28.—Scandinavian countries are visited each year by an increasing number of Mormon missionaries who travel about the country districts making converts. Their activity in different parts of Denmark has been so great this spring that several deputations have asked the minister of ecclesiastical affairs to put a stop to it.

Representative of London Times to Study Mormonism in Utah.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The WASHINGTON, April 28.—The London Times has sent a representative to the United States to investigate Mormonism. After making an investigation in the east he will travel to Utah for a close inspection of alleged evils. This action follows the activity of English clergymen in stirring up agitation against the promulgation of the gospel teachings on English soil and also the statement of the home secretary that he purposes an investigation or behalf of the government. The London Times intends to gather its inforamtion at first hand and present the result of its investigation

JOINING IN PROTEST Indications That the Fight Over the Agreement Will Be Prolonged and Bitter.

> OTTAWA, Ont., April 28.-The deternination of the Canadian government to mination of the Canadian government to fatify reciprocity was emphasized in parliament today by the prime minister. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who declared that he would not go to England and represent canada at the imperial conference or to the coronation of King George in June, but would remain here to press the agreement if the opposition persisted in obstructing its ratification.

> The matter was brought before parliament by Opposition Leader Borden, who asked Sir Wilfrid what his intentions were in regard to the approaching events in London.

> "I deemed it my duty to attend," replied Sir Wilfrid, "and engaged my passage six weeks ago, but I have come to the conclusion that, should my presence be required in Canada, and there is every indication that it may be, it will be my duty to forego the privilege of attending the conference. My first duty is to Canada.

The Line Is Drawn.

The Line Is Drawn.

"Mr. Borden has said he and his followers offer uncompromising opposition to the ratification of the agreement. I may tell him that on this side we offer uncompromising support for the agreement. He thinks it would be a ban to Canada and a possible danger to the empire. We think it would be a boon to Canada and to the empire.

"It is well known that under the rules of the Canadian house it is possible for the opposition to block a measure almost indefinitely. It has come to us that the opposition has such intention. The lobbies have been full of such rumors.

"I have in my hand a report of the speech delivered at the Associated Press banquet in New York by William Northrup, M. P., one of the most important members of the Canadian opposition, in which he states practically that the opposition at Ottawa will not allow this agreement to be carried into effect. I do not know what authority he has to speak, but I am informed he voiced the decision of the conservative cancus held only sion of the conservative caucus held only a few days ago. If such is the tempe of the opposition I think it will be necessary for me to revise my determination to go to England."

Opposition Leader's View

"I think," said Mr. Borden, "that the prime minister might have regard not only to trade relations with the United States, but to trade relations with the great empire to which we belong. The question must present itself to the prime minister, whether our trade and other relations with the United States are more important than our trade and our relations with the empire of which we form a part.

tions with the empire of which we form a part.

"Under the circumstances. I trust the prime minister will reconsider the intimation he has given and that at the conference and the coronation Canada will be represented as she should be, by the prime minister."

Mr. Borden suggested that parliament could rise for two months to allow the prime minister to go to London.

Sir Wilfrid made no reply, but it is generally accepted here, he will not go to England and that the light over reciprocity will be prolonged and marked with a good deal of bitterness.

"I say our neighbors on the north should be not deceived," said Mr. Prince. "When we go into a country and get control of it, we take it. Witnesses Swear O'Hara and Clore Were in Bingham at Time of Robbery.

STRONG TESTIMONY GIVEN ON POINT

One Witness Says He Slept With Alleged Bandits Night of Train Holdup.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, April 28.—That Bryan O'Hara and Victor Glore, charged by the state of Utah with murder in the first degree for the killing of William N. Davis, a train porter, and the robbery of more than a score of passengers of the Overland Limited train at Reese the evening of January 2, were in fast at Bingham Canyon, nearly seventy miles from the point of the holdup when the train was robbed. was the testimony of five witnesses, well was the testimony of five witnesses, well known residents of the mining camp, at the preliminary hearing today.

By the introduction of witnesses to prove an alibi for the two defendants, the attorneys for the prisoners intend to off-set the large amount of testimony already introduced by the state tending to positively identify O'Hara and Clore as the tall and short bandits of the Overland robbery. In offering this testimony the defense departed from the usual custom at preliminary hearings, at which there is usually an ex-parte showing on behalf of the state. Another object in offering its testimony at this stage is the desire of the defense to get into the records a part of its evidence, in case the witnesses become scattered before the trial of the defendants begins in the district court, provided, of course, that the case goes beyond the preliminary hearing. district court, provided, of course, that the case goes beyond the preliminary hearing.

Strong Testimony Given.

That Ralph Reed was not only with the two defendants January 2, the night of the train robbery, but slept with them in their room at Bingham Canyon, was his sworn testimony at the preliminary hearing today. Reed is a railroad man. 23 years of age. While employed as a fireman in Idaho last year he met O'Hara and Clore, he said. Together they came to Ogden in November. The witness says he then went to Sait Lake City and later to Bingham Canyon, where he was taken siek with typhoid pneumonia and sent to St. Mark's hospital at Sait Lake City for treatment between December 10 and December 15, the exact date not being remembered. Strong Testimony Given.

cember 10 and December 15, the exact date not being remembered.

*On January 1 I was released from the hospital," asserted the witness. "I stayed in Salt Lake during the day, but the next morning, January 2, I went to Bingham Canyon in search of work. I met O Hara and Clore at the Monarch saloon. Having no place to sleep, I went with them to their room, where we sleep. with them to their room, where we slept three in a bed the night of January 2."
Here Judge O. W. Powers, of counsel for the defense, who is conducting the examination of the witnesses called by the defense, asked the witness to identify a draft for $100 dated January 5, 1911, sent to O'Hara by his brother at Palms, Mich. The witness recognized the draft, which came in response to a request for money from the Michigan relatives of the defendant.

"O'Hara tried to get the draft cashed at Bingham, but he couldn't do so." continued the witness, "He and Clore borrowed 50 cents so that they could get to Salt Lake City and have it cashed. This was January 7 when they left Bingham."

Cashed in Salt Lake.

The draft showed that it had been cashed by the Gold Label Liquor company at Salt Lake City and was admitted in evidence by the court. Asked why he was so certain of the date when he met the prisoners and slept with them. Reed said he was positive because it.

he was so certain of the date when he met the prisoners and slept with them. Reed said he was positive because it was the day after he had been discharged from the hospital at Sait Lake City. The cross-examination, conducted by County Attorney David Jenson, falled to elicit anything further from Reed, who made a star witness for the defense.

Since O'Hara and Clore were brought back to Ogden for trial it is said that a long and relentless search has been made for Reed by the relatives of the accused men, extending throughout Utah, Idaho, Montana and other western states, he being finally located by advertisements inserted in the newspapers.

Andrew Thugum, a Swedish construction man, was another of the allbi witnesses called by the defense. Tjugum swore that he had first met O'Hara and Clore at Tindoy, Ida., where they were all employed as car repairers. After leaving Idaho the witness went to Bingham Canyon, arriving there December 9.

"I first saw them (the defendants) at the Copper King saloon New Year's day," said the witness. "I remember the day because we had knocked off work. I saw them again the next day, January 2, after we had quit work. O'Hara asked me if I could give him work, and I told him there was nothing then, but something might turn up in a short time. We were at the Old Crow saloon and other places during the night, watching the moving-picture shows until close up to 9 o'cleck. I also saw Ralph Reed with them."

Woman Testifies.

Mrs. Fred Goodwin has charge of the rooms above the Combination bar at Binchum.

"On December 31," she said. "I showed Mr. Clore room No. 7 and he said he would take it for a week. He paid the money in advance to Mr. Edwards, the proprietor of the saloen. That night he occupied the room and both O'Hara and he slep! there, although I didn't see O'Hara. I know they stayed there because I cleaned up the room the next day. Saw both O'Hara and Clore the following day. January 2, in the afternoom. They both slept in the room that night, because I saw them so downstairs the next day. They occupied the room until Saturday morning, January 7, and used the room centinuously from December 31 until that time."
